

The Ice Burns Black (Back Cover)

Not even Greenland's ice capped region could keep the silence frozen forever concerning the altered lives and numerous deaths resulting from the horrific crash of a nuclear-armed B52 in 1968. Today, the truth surfaces, piece by piece, in the new book, The Ice Burns Black.

The book, based on a true story, chronicles one intriguing international event after another - why the B52 was flying over Greenland; and the dangerous cleanup of "hot" plutonium and uranium at the top of the world by Carswell and other good Samaritans. The authors take a metaphorical snow blower to uncover additional disturbing truths about the quietest bombing in history many believe ultimately responsible for the deaths of innocent people. This story "Alive" is global news today.

Co-Author Terrence Cromwell researched, interviewed, and partnered with the driving force behind The Ice Burns Black - Co-author Jeff Carswell, survivor of the cleanup; and with Co-author Dr. David James, PhD, one of Australia's foremost journalists and business management scholars, to bring this astonishing story to the world.

Cromwell produced his first full-length work, Scirocco, after serving as a third-generation US Marine, traveling around the world and graduating from law school. Yet none of his experiences rival bringing The Ice Burns Black to print. Carswell continues his activist global role, prompting several discussions with the European Parliament; presentations to a senior Parliamentary Committee in Brussels; and a BBC interview for a Documentary on the missing bomb sitting at the bottom of the fjord.
